MEDIA

Open to all traditional and non-traditional genres and media. The Dairy Barn Arts Center's carefully assembled juries change from project to project, and have no collective predisposition towards any particular kind or style of art.

JUDGING CRITERIA

Artwork will be judged on originality, design, concept, technique, and craftsmanship. The artist statement is considered a supporting document.

- Originality: The work should demonstrate a fresh and individual vision that reflects the artist's unique voice. Jurors will consider how the artist contributes to the ongoing dialogue of contemporary quilting through innovative ideas, approaches, or use of materials.
- Design: The visual organization of the work, including composition, use of color, balance, scale, and movement. Strong design supports the concept and guides the viewer's experience, whether through abstraction, representational imagery, or experimental form.
- Concept: The underlying idea or message that drives the artwork. Jurors will consider the depth, clarity, and relevance of the concept, as well as how effectively it is expressed through visual and material choices. A strong concept reflects thoughtful intent and invites viewers to engage intellectually or emotionally with the work. Whether rooted in personal narrative, social commentary, or formal exploration, the concept should provide the foundation that unifies design, technique, and craftsmanship into a cohesive statement.
- Technique: The skillful and intentional use of quilting methods and materials. Jurors will look for mastery and thoughtful application of construction, stitching, surface design, or embellishment techniques that enhance the work's expressive content. Technique should support the overall concept of the work.

- Craftsmanship: Attention to detail and excellence in execution. Craftsmanship reflects care, precision, and respect for the medium—qualities that elevate the work and ensure it is structurally sound and exhibition-ready.
- Artist statement: The written statement should clearly communicate the ideas, inspiration, and process behind the work. It should help deepen the viewer's understanding of how the piece fits within the artist's practice and how it connects to broader themes in contemporary art or society.

Jurors will select no more than one artwork by an artist. Preliminary acceptance will be granted on the basis of the digital image submission. Final acceptance will be granted after a jurors' representative has examined the artwork itself, following the arrival of the artwork at The Dairy Barn Arts Center.

Approximately 80 artworks will be selected for the exhibition. Judging will be conducted through a blind jury process, meaning jurors will not have access to any identifying information about the artists, such as names or locations.

JURORS

These talented individuals possess a wealth of knowledge about contemporary textiles and fine art with decades of collective experience in the artistic, technical, and academic aspects of this exciting art form.

Beverly Y. Smith
Brandy Maslowski
Shin-hee Chin

BRANDY MASLOWSKI is a quiltmaker and artist who travels extensively as a teacher, speaker and NACQJ certified quilt judge. She is author of children's picture book Kristy's Quilt and the Editor of Quilting Arts Magazine and QuiltCon Magazine. She has curated a portfolio of workshops from modern improv to fiber art which aim to nudge the quilter into artfulness. Her quilts explore meaningful themes in her life such as healing, growth, and friendship and her quilting practice is an integral part of her self care. She leads quilting tours to exciting destinations with the tagline More Joy, Less Overwhelm. She is the founder and host of the Quilter on Fire Podcast and can be found everywhere online as the Quilter on Fire.

BEVERLY Y. SMITH is a veteran high school art teacher of 33 years. She received a Bachelor of Science degree in Psychology from Morgan State University, a Bachelor of Arts in Education from the University of North Carolina in Charlotte, and a Master of Art Education degree from Winthrop University in Rock Hill, South Carolina.

Beverly is a mixed-media fiber artist who expresses herself through quilts. Her grandmother introduced her to quilting, and she uses this connection in her art practice to explore a new narrative of equal rights and opportunities for all genders.

Her combinations of media act as encoded sigils through which she seeks to process the past and create imagined narratives that have layers of meaning about time, personal and political conflict, and memory, all the while paying homage to those who came before her.

These emotional and familial ties transform Beverly's artworks into more than quilts. The spirit of generations is imbued into every stitch, every swatch of fabric, and the quilts become portals to a long gone (but not forgotten) history that Beverly has so generously chosen to share with us.

SHIN-HEE CHIN, a Korean American fiber artist, is internationally recognized for her work, which has been exhibited at prestigious institutions like the Textile Museum in Washington, DC, and the National Museum of Modern and Contemporary Art in Seoul. Her art is part of notable collections, including the Jack Walsh Collection. In 2025, she received the Governor's Arts Award for Excellence in Artistic Achievement in Visual Arts in Kansas.

Chin has been a keynote speaker at major events, such as the Women's Voices, Women's Votes, Women's Rights exhibit at the Clinton Presidential Center in 2023, as well as the SAQA (Studio Art Quilt Associates) conferences in Canada in 2020 and Florida in 2025. She was a research fellow with the Nagel Institute in 2018, participating in a project on Contemporary Chinese Art and Society.

Influenced by feminist traditions, Christian spirituality, and Eastern philosophy, Shin-hee Chin's richly layered mixed-media and fiber art explores themes of motherhood, cultural identity, hybridity, and belonging. Her work often incorporates elements of landscape and environment, reflecting her deep connection to nature and the world around her. She holds degrees from Hong-ik University in Seoul, Korea, and California State University, Long Beach. As a Professor of Visual Art at Tabor College, Kansas, she was honored as Distinguished Faculty in 2008 and received the Clarence R. Hiebert Excellence in Teaching Award in 2020 for her excellence in teaching.

Chin has also served as a juror for international textile competitions, including Avant Garde at the European Patchwork Meeting in Alsace, France (2025). Currently, she serves as a board member for SAQA.

ARTIFICIAL INTELLEGENCE

AI may not be used as a replacement for individual creativity. Innovative use of AI may be used as long as it does not take away from the artistic integrity of the piece. AI should complement rather than overshadow the human touch, and ethical considerations should guide its application.

TRACKING DEVICES

Artists may include in their shipping containing, or affix tracking devices (e.g., AirTags) to their quilts for the duration of the exhibition, provided the device is safely attached and does not compromise the artwork’s structural integrity or presentation. All devices must be disclosed to gallery staff at delivery and must be securely fastened so they will not shift or cause abrasion. The Dairy Barn Arts Center is not responsible for any damage, loss, battery leakage, or electronic interference resulting from the installation or use of tracking devices; artists assume full responsibility for any risks associated with attaching such devices.

INSURANCE

The Dairy Barn Arts Center cannot insure any artwork for an amount in excess of 65% of its fair market value and reserves the right to limit the amount of insurance coverage on a particular piece. In the event of loss or damage, it will be the artist's responsibility to provide documentation concerning the value of the artwork and the extent of the claim. Insurance values listed on the entry form will be in effect for as long as the artwork is part of the Quilt National '27 exhibit, including the tour.

TOURING EXHIBITION

Selected artworks will be available to circulate to host venues during "Touring dates" (see above for dates). Decisions concerning the composition of the touring exhibit will be based, in part, on the availability and physical characteristics of the piece. Although participation in the touring exhibition is optional, it is expected that all award-winning artworks will be available to circulate for the full length of the tour.

Artwork that exceeds 75" in any one direction will not be eligible to tour unless it can be folded or packed in its original packaging. If you have questions about your quilt's size and tour eligibility, please contact exhibitions@dairybarn.org.

SALES

Artists whose artwork is not for sale (NFS) must write NFS and must list a valid insurance value in US dollars. Artwork identified on this form as FOR SALE (e.g. with an established retail price in US dollars) must maintain that status for as long as it is part of the active Quilt National '27 collection, which includes the 2-year tour.

In the event of a sale, the artist will be paid 65% of the retail price listed on this form. The Dairy Barn Arts Center will retain a 35% commission on artwork sold.

Should the artist decide to sell a FOR SALE artwork directly or through a third party after it has been accepted for exhibition, it will be assumed that the buyer has been influenced by the fact that it is part of Quilt National '27 (while on exhibition and tour). Therefore, The Dairy Barn Arts Center will be entitled to a fee of 15% of the retail price listed.

Please note that if the accepted artwork is sold to a Quilt National '27 visitor, the DBAC must be the only agent for the artwork while it is part of this exhibition.

Liability for all taxes associated with income from the sale of artwork, or from an award, is the sole responsibility of the artist. In the instance of sale or award, the artist must provide The Dairy Barn with appropriate personal information for tax reporting.

Should an accepted artwork be sold prior to the exhibition, it will be the artist's responsibility to guarantee that the new owner will make the artwork available for the May 28, 2027—September 5, 2027, to display at The Dairy Barn Arts Center.

SHIPPING

The artist is responsible for all costs relating to shipping and insurance of artwork while in transit to and from The Dairy Barn Arts Center. Artwork should be shipped in a substantial, reusable container.

The Dairy Barn Arts Center will not be responsible for damage due to incorrect packing or an inadequate container.

All artwork will be handled with care and returned in the original packing material. The Dairy Barn Arts Center will not assume customs and/or brokerage charges. It is expected that an international artist will reimburse The Dairy Barn Arts Center for any charges thus incurred.

It is recommended that artists do not fold the artwork but rather ship the artwork rolled or flat, if appropriate.

Quilt National '27 is committed to aiding international artists in managing the significant shipping costs associated with sending quilts abroad. In line with this commitment, the organization is introducing shipping reimbursement scholarships designed to assist accepted international artists. Applications will be available in September 2026. Please contact exhibitions@dairybarn.org for more information.
